

As a Global Supply Chain Controller (f/m/d), you will take on a key role as a business partner for our global supply chain organization – covering production, logistics, and procurement. In this strategically oriented yet hands-on function, you carry financial responsibility for central operational topics and support the global management team with in-depth analyses, business insights, and clear, actionable recommendations.

You will lead a small international team of 3–4 colleagues and collaborate closely with various departments worldwide. With your contribution, you actively shape decision-making, strengthen performance, and support the successful development of our company.
